Spin the card and give it to the player on your left who quickly and without looking puts it in front of her or his mouth.

It will show either a smile or a frown.

As a player, you will have to guess your mood of the moment.

All the other players will try to help you (or not, if they are bluffing) by putting their thumb up (for smile) or down (for frown). If you guess right, you stay in the game, if not, you are out. The card moves to the next player until there is only one player standing (winner of the round).

The first player to win 2 rounds wins the game.
